

Pamphlet entitled "Territorial Claims in the Antarctic", from the Research Department, Foreign Office. May 1st, 1945.

Table of Contents:

- I. The Antarctic Regions;
- II. Economic Resources;
- III. Strategic Considerations;
- IV. The Antarctic in relation to Air Communications;
- V. Antarctic Meteorological Stations;
- VI. The Historical Development of Antarctic Exploration;
- VII. British Policy in the Antarctic;
- VIII. The Present Situation of Territorial Claims;
- IX. The Falkland Islands Dependencies;
- X. The Ross Dependency;
- XI. The Australian Antarctic Territory and Adélie Land;
- XII. Queen Maud Land;
- XIII. The Pacific Sector;
- XIV. Islands in the Southern Ocean;
- XV. The Acquisition of Sovereignty over Polar Areas;

Appendices:

- I. Chronological List of Antarctic Expeditions, with Brief Notes on each;
- II. Occasions on which Formal Possession has been taken;
- III. Dates of Occupation of Expedition Base Huts, Antarctic Shore Whaling Stations and of Ships Wintering in Coastal Waters;
- IV. Boundaries in the Antarctic;
- V. Territorial Waters in Relation to Shelf Ice;
- VI. The Falkland Islands Dispute;
- VII. Possible Effects of Resorting to Arbitration of the South Orkney Islands Dispute;
- VIII. The Case for Argentine Territorial Claims in the Antarctic;

- IX. The Case of the Chilean Territorial Claims in the Antarctic;
- X. The Discovery of the South Shetland Islands and Graham Land;
- XI. The Discovery of the South Orkney Islands;
- XII. Discoveries of the United States Exploring Expedition and of the French Naval Expedition in 1840;
- XIII. The 'Discovery' Investigations;
- XIV. The International Control of Whaling;
- XV. Discoveries of Coal in the Antarctic;
- XVI. The Future Possibilities of Meteorological Research in the Antarctic;
- XVII. Antarctic Place-names;
- XVIII. Summary.